

Profile

Grant Simuchimba

Grant Simuchimba is an academic member of staff at the Copperbelt University (CBU) in the Department of Zoology and Aquatic Sciences. Currently, he is a PhD student at Stellenbosch University (SU) in the School of Public Leadership sponsored by the Norwegian Programme for Capacity Development in Higher Education and Research for Development (NORHED) and the Copperbelt University (CBU). His studies are focused on the economic impacts of protected areas on local communities and the economic leakage of tourism revenue from local areas. He is also interested in the linkages between the geographical settlements, natural resources incomes, socio-economic benefits and costs realised by the locals living around protected areas.

His PhD is entitled:

Economic Valuation and Geographical Settlement Analysis of Protected Areas: Cases of Kafue and South Luangwa National Parks